

CANDY ARTS

Release Checklist

Before publishing your project, please check that you've done the following:

1. Your project displays the `Candy_Arts_Splash_Screen.png` for at least 3 seconds at launch.
2. The disclaimer text in `Candy_Arts_Code_Disclaimer.txt` is featured at the top of every script that features any Candy Arts code.
3. For all Candy Arts assets in your project, you have assigned your project either of the following licenses:
 - Free Indie License
 - Starter Indie License
 - Pro Indie License
 - Studio License
4. The license PDF files are included in your game files, such that end-users can access them. If the game files aren't downloadable by end-users, the licenses are featured where your game can be accessed (e.g. webpage).
5. For each Candy Arts asset in your project, only one license PDF file is included in the files or featured with your project (don't include two licenses for the same asset).
6. Your project, yourself, and all other Creators comply with the assigned licenses, and you have complied with them since they were assigned, including during development of your game.
7. If the licenses are Indie licenses: your project qualifies as Indie, and you and all other Creators qualify as Indie.
8. All Candy Arts asset licenses assigned to your project belong to the same tier (e.g. all licenses are Starter Indie Licenses).
9. If the licenses are Starter Indie or Pro Indie, you and all Creators have each paid for your own licenses (by purchasing a LARC -- License Assignment Rights Certificate).
10. DO NOT INCLUDE YOUR LARC IN THE FILES. KEEP YOUR LARC PRIVATE.

And with that: congratulations for making your game! We hope it will be successful, and please feel free to contact us to tell us about it! We love to know what our assets help make possible!
